Four Counties Get A Senator Each In Roberts' Proposal

As a member of the committee on reapportionment, Emmett Roberts co-sponsored a bill in the House which gives to Bay, Manatee, Sarasota and Manatee Counties each a Senator and maintains the present number of senatorial districts—34.

The grouping in this bill gives one district four counties, eleven districts three counties each, and four districts two counties each.

Thirteen of these senatorial districts are smaller in population than the Glades area of Palm Beach County, and one is about the same size. Two of the two-county districts are larger than the Glades. Of the single county districts, eight are smaller than the Glades.

So, we find, sixteen of Florida's senatorial districts are proposed, no larger than the Glades area.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

The Golden Years
WASHINGTON — Do you know that the average Social Security benefit in the State of Florida is $59.44 per month, or $712.92 annually? ... and do you also know that this is less than half of the budget for a modest level of living as determined by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in a study of 34 cities which set a minimum figure of $1,000 per year? ... also true that many elderly people who do not have an auxiliary income from insurance, bonds, etc., must supplement their Social Security benefits by part-time employment.

The amount of earned income an individual is permitted to receive without suffering any reduction from his Social Security benefits under the present law is $1200. It is my belief that this $1200 limitation imposes an undue hardship on some of our elderly citizens who must supplement their benefits; and this can only be alleviated by increasing taking corrective action to bring Social Security law in line with present day needs.

It is for these reasons that I have introduced an amendment to the Social Security Act which would increase this amount to $1500. It seems to me only fair to allow those persons who can find a part-time job to supplement their income so as to provide themselves with the necessities of life to do so. There is no productivity to be realized from these senior citizens.

Mr. Paul M. Bryant has demonstrated his belief that Florida is rich in possibilities for small industries to give work to retired men and women who can still produce on a leisure-time basis. He has done this by setting up a small business in Italy Hill with a working force composed entirely of retired or disabled workers. This factory is engaged in building early American furniture, using the hand craftsmanship methods that were a major source of income, and by so doing has put

This Tax Money Comes To Payers

Out of 289 municipalities in Florida reporting on cigarette tax only 38 received more tax than Belle Glade, and these eleven were in the $7,000 bracket.

The average for the entire state is $4640, with a total of $1,345,301 for the month of May.

Belle Glade received $6,300 as its share for May. Comparison with other areas of the state—counties—in almost any governmental reporting system gives the Glades a favorable standing in more than 50 of the 67 counties.

The Glades is larger in population, area and annual gross income than more than 50 of Florida's counties.

We certainly don't rate very high on the list by comparison with the average of the entire state, and special taxes—spent in our area.

Mr. McCabe and family leave this week for a visit to northern points which will include business associates in northern markets.

String Band To Play At Teenage Center
Over 150 teenagers joined in the activities at the Elks teen-age center last Friday night. In the third week of the center's opening more and more youngsters are coming out to enjoy square and round dancing, games and entertainment.

Tonight's special treat is in store for the dancers with the FFA String Band furnishing the music. The center will be open as usual at 7:30 but closing time has been changed to 11:00 p.m. for the older group. The young teenagers may be picked up by their parents at the regular time.

Door prizes this week will be donated by Dorsey's Barber Shop and Belle Glade High School. That week Donna May Armstrong and Edward Humpries were the lucky winners of the prize presented by F. L. Harris.

Spider Lindroos and Frank Dooley, members of the Elks Club will be on hand tonight to gather with chaperones and a supervisor of the summer recreation program. Teenage Center Committee wishes to stress the fact that teen-agers will not be allowed to return to the center if they leave during the evening.

Congressman Rogers Urges Revision Of Unfair Sugar Quota Regulations
Congressman Paul Rogers appeared before the House Committee on Agriculture favoring sugar quota legislation, and among other things he said:

"As you know, certain quota groups have been set in 1948 to afford temporary relief for Cuba, producers as well as foreign countries. It was stated in 1948 that this program was of a temporary nature.

Since the 1948 quotas, the American consumption of sugar has grown by approximately 125,000 tons per year.

Cuba has been getting 96 per cent of the entire growth in our market each year. Other foreign countries get four per cent, and what about the American producers? They get not one single grain.

"In the 6th District of Florida which I have the honor or represent, there is approximately 40,000 tons of sugar that is having to be stored because of the quota on our producing area. Almost $7,000,000 in the 6th District alone stored with no hope of sale under the present quota, not to mention the attendant costs of storage warehousing, disruption of planting which will adversely affect our economy. This piling up of sugar did not come from increased acreages, rather it came about from acreages which have been reduced, 10 per cent last year and eight per cent this

More Than $12,000,000 In Produce Hauled Over State Roads 80 And 817 Visiting Officials Are Informed

"We're better prepared to compare your needs with those of other Florida Counties after the figures on the tonnage that passes over it," Chief Engineer H. E. Lewis of the State Road Commission told approximately a score of local farmers here Wednesday morning. "You certainly know approximately the road, but do you know Florida highways?" he continued.

Pioneer Growers Cooperative recently asked the County Commission's aid in securing a major road improvement on State Road No. 80 from South Bay to Six-Mile-Bend and State Road No. 817 from Six-Mile-Bend to Hillsborough Plantation. The City Commission and the Chamber of Commerce joined the effort to make a report. Emmett Roberts was asked to help.

Chairman Jones of the State Road Department asked his Chief Engineer, Chief Engineer in Charge of Maintenance, R. C. Bannerman to visit the area and make a report. Three City Commissioners and City Manager Robinson were present. The Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, the Lions, Elks and Legion were represented.

Roscoe Bradlock led the discussion, stating that every one present giving briefly the number of trucks used over the road, experience in repairs, number of jackknives or roadblocks and produce moved over the road, and the necessity for improvement.

The report inspected 817 to its southern terminus at Hillsborough Plantation and State Road No. 80 to South Bay.

Mr. Lewis asked that a compilation of figures given to him orally be transmitted officially to the Department, so that he could have this information in the form to present to the Board.

From the information given Mr. Lewis is:

(1) That local users have not made a job before because it was the general belief that the Flood Control program contemplated leaving additional road on 817 along the south side of the Hillsboro, thus assuring a permanent improvement.

(2) Three farmers told of fixing as many as seven and eight truck spurs in one day as a result of the rough road, reducing the pay load as much as 25 per cent.

(3) That $2,628,000—more than $50,000 in value—packages of produce were hauled over 817 last year; that 6,000 tons of cattle were hauled by truck over the road; that 1200 truck loads of road were moved over the road; that approximately $225,000 worth of ramsie fiber

Explosion Damages Church Manse

A severe explosion occurred in the early morning hours of Sunday, July 17, in the kitchen of the Presbyterian Manse, wrecking the entire front portion of the dwelling. The blast originated in the kitchen, blowing two doors off their hinges and the garage door in half. So powerful was the concussion that the rafters in the building were raised.

Dr. and Mrs. Leighton Scott were asleep in the back bedroom when the accident occurred and fortunately were not injured. They are new arrivals from the community of Scott, where he was formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Scott has accepted a call to the Presbyterian Church, of Belle Glade, and reached his new assignment on the same morning, following the accident.

It was difficult to estimate the exact amount of damage, but observers said that damage to the structure is extensive.

International Show Slated July 31 For Hibiscus Growers

Florida Hibiscus fanciers are priming their plants in readiness for the American Hibiscus Society international hibiscus show to be held in Orlando, Sunday, July 31st.

The Mid-Florida Chapter will be host to the show which is designed to be the largest international display of its kind ever staged according to W. Bruce Parnell, Miami, president of the American Hibiscus Society, an international organization.

The Society's nine chapters will cooperate with the Orlando group in staging the show and individuals will fly their banners to the show from many sections of Florida, Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana.

Mr. Parnell explained that Orlando was chosen because of its central location. Chapters extend as far west as Louisiana. Besides the many and various ribbons offered in the competitive blooms and artistic arrangements, three silver trophies will be offered; two for the first time.

Tropical Homes and Gardens Magazine will present a silver bowl to the chapter, whose display best follows its chosen theme while the second trophy, will be presented by the Florida Nurserymen and Growers Association to the nurseryman exhibiting the best nursery-grown flower.

The third silver award, given for the first time at the local Orlando show last year, is presented by M. J. Daetwyler, of Orlando, for the best flower shown by an amateur grower.

flower and especially good massed in shrubbery bays.

Cacti (many varieties)—As a result of the present day search for the unusual, cacti have become very popular. The kinds of cacti available from collectors and nurserymen are almost endless and they can be grown quite easily if given full sun and poor soil that is well drained. They do not blend well with other plants, so it is best to establish a separate cactus garden.

Canna (Canna in many species)—Recent years have witnessed remarkable development in the canna genus. Today one may have flowers of red, yellow, white, buff or pink and foliage of green or bronze. Varieties vary in height from 18" to seven or eight feet. Cannas are quite happy anywhere in the sun if there can be an abundant supply of water and plant food. A pyrethrum spray frequently applied, controls the canna leaf roller (Gelsina canalis) and insect that causes unsightly injury to the leaves. The rootstocks should be divided every two or three years to prevent crowding.

Cardinalis guard (Pachy-stachys cocconea) — This is a coarse-leaved rank growing plant that is handsome when used in large clumps to give a bold note of deep red. This tender South American perennial is cut to the ground by the first white frost, but it quickly recovers and blooms freely during later summer. Some near- relatives in the genera Jacobinia and Justicia, all of New World origin, with reddish or clear pink blossoms, are equally desirable as tall, semi-shrubbery herbs.

Century Plant (Agave spp.) — The Century Plant is so easy to cultivate that it is found in many varieties growing widely in Florida. Century plants are valuable when used sparingly to lend a tropical effect. The terminal thorns must be removed with pruning shears to prevent injury by contact. Propagation is by suckers arising from old plants and from tiny plantlets borne in the inflorescences.

Chrysanthemums — These popular hardy perennials are to be found in all sections of Florida. They will bloom dependably if given good conditions and if certain precautions are observed. Leaf spotting of chrysanthemums, the result of infection by several different fungi, is particularly serious in Florida and in certain years clean foliage is restricted to small rosettes just below the blossoms. A fungicide should be used frequently during the growing season. The old brown leaves carry the disease over from one season to the next and for this reason the ground under the plants must be drenched with the fungicide. Because the foliage diseases are carried over so readily and because of the recent threat of the stunt disease, the old practice of increasing chrysanthemums by division is to buy new, clear rooted cuttings in early summer from a specialist, pot these in fresh soil, and then set the plants in a fertile bed which has not had chrysanthemums in recently. If it is not feasible to purchase fresh plants, take leafy tips from vigorous new shoots and dip these slips in a bath of fungicide and water. Set these leafy cuttings in fresh sand in a propagating box made of new boards. After the plants are growing well, mulching materials should be applied and bi-weekly feedings of a balanced fertilizer should be started.

Coontie (Zamia spp.) — This hardy native perennial with long, planate, fern-like leaves is excellent as a ground cover, as an edging or as a facing-down plant in densely shaded positions. Native to sandy ridges, it will survive under conditions and drought that would prove fatal to most plants.

Roach-Elimination Campaign Started In Southern States

Goodbye, Mr. Roach.—If a current campaign in 10 South-eastern states is successful. And it will be a good rid-dance of this filthy, trouble-some, destructive pest. Cock-roaches are among the most common of household pests; they destroy food, damage fab-ric, book bindings and other materials, and may be the mechanical carriers of diseases. In addition, they secrete an oily liquid that is offensive and sickening.

James E. Broughton, Florida Agricultural Extension Service entomologist, says that four kinds of roaches are commonly found in Florida dwellings. They are the German and brown-banded roaches; the American and Australian cockroaches; and the common Florida woods roaches, which do not become established inside houses.

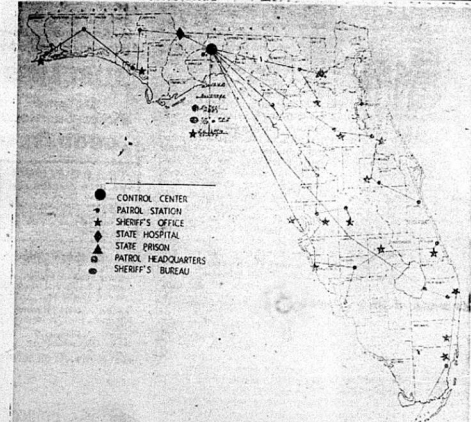

Knowledge of the way roaches reproduce, where they live, how to prevent infestations, and how to control them are im-portant in a home's private cam-paign against roaches.

Roaches live in dark sheltered places in daytime, come out at night. They like areas around kitchen sinks, in cracks under cupboards or cabinets, or inside them; around pipes and con-ducts; behind window and door frames; under loose baseboards and moulding strips; underneath tables and chairs; and even in radio and TV cabinets. Bath-rooms and kitchens, basement and store rooms, if warm and damp, are perfect places for roaches.

You're a long way ahead of roaches if you cut off their food supply. Clean up food crumbs; check grocery bags or boxes brought in, or laundry bundles, as roaches will fre-quently be transmitted in those containers. Close up open-ings or cracks around sinks, drains, conduits, baseboards, mouldings. Make it hard for the roaches to enter. Keep garbage in tightly covered cans, and food stored in tight containers.

Effective insecticides include chlordane, which is effective against all kinds of roaches and which has good residual prop-erties. Use it as a 2 to 3 per cent spray or 5 to 6 per cent dust. Oil base chlordane sprays are most commonly used and do not leave visible residues like dusts. Dieldrin has been given full approval and has a long resid-ual effect. Lindane is effective against roaches, but does not have as long residual effect as chlordane or dieldrin.

Apply the insecticides behind baseboards, back of the stove and refrigerator, around pipes and under sinks, on exposed sur-faces where roaches crawl, on the underside of objects and on

STATEWIDE COVERAGE—This map of Florida shows where the patrol communication centers will be located, plus location of other tie-ins based on the legend shown at the left of the map.

A statewide leased wire com-munication system, designed to increase the effectiveness of the fight against crime in Florida, will soon be completed by the Florida Highway Patrol, who will extend the service to allied agencies all over the state.

State Patrol Comdr. H. N. Kirkman said today that a 13-station net, which has been in operation for the last two years, "proved the benefits" of such a system, and the current expan-sion will provide for a coopera-tive hook-up between other agencies all over Florida.

The Western Union has work-ed with the Patrol on a proposal for the extension of the system to include all field offices, in-cluding a projected station at Arcadia.

Comdr. Kirkman said the fi-nal step in setting up the sys-tem was culminated after the 1955 Legislature authorized other places where they may crawl or hide. Check the label for directions on where to apply the killers.

Avoid contamination of food, water or cooking utensils with the chemicals during applica-tion. Remove fish bowls, or cov-er them during spraying. Don't use oil solutions near an open flame, and keep them off as-phalt tile floors.

Store insecticides out of reach of children and irrespon-sible persons, and put them where they cannot be mistaken for food products or medicine.

Above all: "Read the label carefully and follow the man-ufacturer's directions to the let-ter."

funds with which to construct the Arcadia station.

Sufficient funds to finance ex-tension of the closed wire tele-type system was released by the Budget Commission, enough to put it in all stations.

The system should be com-pleted ready for operation by November 1, Kirkman said.

After completion, a number of law enforcement agencies or state agencies with enforcement duties, will be tied in with the Patrol's system. They will in-clude the state prison at Raf-ford, the mental hospital at Chattahoochee, the State Be-verage Department, Motor Ve-hicle Commission and the State's Sheriff Bureau.

"Extension of our wire com-munication system, declared Kirkman, "will permit the Florida Highway Patrol to ac-cept many more types of mes-sages from other out-of-state agencies than it has been able to do in the past."

"It will also mean that we can perform smoother, more ef-ficiently in our organized fight against crime of any nature, plus the fact that we can give assistance to many allied agen-cies in Florida."

Until 1953, the Patrol had only two-way radio from station to patrol cars.

The present limited set-up, including headquarters and a dozen field offices, now gives the Patrol a pretty fair state-wide net. However, that effec-tiveness will increase two-fold with the extension finished.

The Florida Highway Patrol now blankets the state with its radio network, with some stretches—like between Pensa-cola and Marathon—300 to 500 miles distant.

The leased wire system will supplement that means of com-munication, linking agencies to all 25 Florida Highway Patrol stations in major and small areas alike and with all im-portant centers where the en-forcement of law is concerned.

Fish Commission Adds Wild Hog To Worries

Establishment of the wild hog as a game animal in cer-tain sections of South Florida has been suggested to the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commis-sion, according to A. D. Ald-rich, director.

Under the proposal, wild hogs in Dade, Broward, Monroe and Collier counties would be placed on the list of game animals under a closed hunting season regulation.

The suggestion also involves prohibition of the use of dogs for deer or hog hunting after January 1 in Dade, Broward, Monroe and Collier counties.

Aldrich stated that many South Florida people consider the true wild hog to be a worth-while game animal. Formerly fairly common throughout the Everglades region, the supply of wild hogs has become severe-ly depleted as the result of over-shooting.

As suggested, the rule per-taining to the use of dogs ap-plied to the true wild hogs reared only in the wild. It would apply only to those animals which are not marked and cannot be logally claimed as domestic ani-mals.

"The Commission," Aldrich said, "is very anxious to have expressions of opinion from in-terested persons as to whether the true wild hog should be classed as a game animal under protective laws in the counties named."
